Dear Accommodation Member

Please see Mark's statement below, ahead of the Easter Weekend:

'As posted on the update No10, Air BnB have confirmed that properties may only be open for Key Workers. Booking.com do not appear to have a specific scheme, but to comply with Government advice you MUST state this on your Booking.com page also if you are showing availability. You can do this by updating your property title such as this property has:
<https://www.booking.com/hotel/gb/thorntonhall.en-gb.html>.

As an Association we agree and need to comply with Government advice and therefore we would strongly advise members to do the same. We have heard that enforcement action may be taken otherwise. We would of course strongly recommend you protect yourselves as advised above.'

Take care & kind regards
