1.	18/03/20	Update the group on the propping up of the Burlington Hotel and likely opening of the seafront. Update: Tim Whelan gave an update on the Claremont Hotel. He reported that Houses 10 and 11 had collapsed and the party wall between the Burlington and the Claremont had come down. The party wall had previously been delaying the contractor's works because of insurance issues. Structural engineers will be reviewing the site and making propping plans. This is expected to take 2 weeks, after which the hoarding can go back up and the road can be reopened. Work will continue from the back and the forensic examination can begin shortly. David Tutt asked if there was a risk to the Burlington and Tim confirmed there was- therefore prop was needed asap.	Tim Whelan players in the business community including Denise at the Enterprise Centre. MPs are working on supporting the business community nationally. Christina Ewbank mentioned that there is a risk of a two-tier society developing with larger businesses surviving but micro-businesses failing. East Sussex is primarily made up of micro businesses with 87% employing less than 10 people. Caroline Ansell clarified that the problem was about being on the rateable register. Miles felt that Cohub members felt missed out because of the nature of the rating system. Christine stated that 35% of their members are sole traders.

14.	25/03/20	Financial support for Business Improvement Districts (BIDs). Update: Information on the Eastbourne BID has been provided by Stephen Holt to the Chamber and to Caroline Ansell's office. Caroline Ansell MP has made representations on behalf of our local BID through parliamentary channels and it is with BEIS & Treasury; MPs across the Country have similarly lobbied as this is a national challenge. Specific financial support for BIDs has not been announced. Caroline will continue to raise.	MP's Office	Ongoing
	15/04/20	Update: Steve Holt said that the BID expected a 50% drop in income. He thanked Caroline and Philip for their support. Tim Cobb also voiced his support for the BID and how much work had gone into getting it established.

It is only a safeguard against eviction for nonpayment. Tenants could miss more than 1 payment in the three month window and still be protected from eviction on those grounds but tenants are still responsible for eventual payment of all contractual sums and, the landlord can still take other collection and enforcement action and tenants can still be evicted for other breaches of lease. Each commercial tenancy and tenant-landlord relationship and legal contract will be different and where businesses are facing difficulties on a local level with commercial tenancies, they are best advised to seek specific legal advice on their tenancy. Further details: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The following are not within the protection of section 82: a licence to occupy (unless it is in reality a lease, despite being described as a licence); a tenancy at will; tenancies that are expressly excluded from Part 2 of the 1954 Act, such as farm business tenancies and tenancies not exceeding 6 months. • Rent is defined widely in section 82(12) to include ‘any sum a tenant is liable to pay under a relevant business tenancy’.
