Did you feel the thrill of Harry Potter's Quidditch match in The Goblet Of Fire? Were you on the edge of your seat during Pearl Harbour's spectacular dogfights? Well, remember Eastbourne. It played a huge part in these and dozens of other film and television productions, etching dramatic moments in your memory and imagination forever.

Fast becoming one of the most widely used film locations in the south east, Eastbourne has played a starring role in many of your favourite television shows, from Little Britain to Poirot, as well as proving a hit on the silver screen in Angus, Thongs & Perfect Snogging, Notes On A Scandal, Brighton Rock, and many more.

Little Britain

Brighton Rock

DID YOU KNOW?

- ★ The makers of Brighton Rock replaced all of the lighting on Eastbourne Pier as part of their transformation to make it resemble Brighton's Palace Pier in the 60s.
- ★ The shoot day for the scene coming out of the party house in Angus, Thongs & Perfect Snogging when Georgia (Georgia Groome) was dressed as an olive was due to be shot on the Monday of their filming week in Eastbourne but was eventually shot on the Friday.

Angus, Thongs & Perfect Snogging

- 3 All of the mobility scooters that are shown in the scenes filmed along the seafront, near the Carpet Gardens, were specifically put into the film by the makers of Angus, Thongs and Perfect Snogging.
- 6 The fishing boat scene from Angus, Thongs & Perfect Snogging was filmed on these beaches as Robbie (Aaron Johnson) jokes with Georgia (Georgia Groome) about Eastbourne's changing image, 'I've heard it's the new Brighton.'
- 7 Clearing this stretch of seafront of modern cars and street furniture was a huge task to pull together for the filming of Made in Dagenham as it took place a day after Airbourne: Eastbourne International Airshow, which annually welcomes over 500,000 visitors.
- 10 The Gallopers Carousel at Fort Fun Family Fun Park on Eastbourne seafront featured in the title sequence for the whole series of Little Britain.
- 11 Scenes were filmed along Golden Jubilee Way for Notes On A Scandal, using police cars to create a rolling road block but unfortunately, didn't make the final edit.
- 12 The famous car is seen flying over Beachy Head Lighthouse in children's classic, Chitty Chitty Bang Bang.

13 The car seen going over the cliff at Beachy Head in James Bond: The Living Daylights, with Timothy Dalton playing 007, is rumoured to have been made of wood.

14 Lizzie Bradbury (Kirsten Dunst) and Peter Colt (Paul Bettany) take a scenic drive from London to Brighton in the box office smash hit Wimbledon, with their route including Beachy Head Road towards Eastbourne.

16 The Lives and Loves of a She Devil is one of Eastbourne's early filming successes and scenes were shot at the famous Belle Tout Lighthouse, which has since been moved back from the cliff edge and today operates as a bed and breakfast.

25 The popular 'Ladies' sketch in Little Britain with Emily Howard (David Walliams) and Florence Rose (Matt Lucas) was filmed along the promenade and at Eastbourne's 1930s Bandstand. Hundreds of the show's fans turned up to watch the filming and shooting took longer than expected to clear the public from view.

- ★ 27 On the morning of filming for BBC Two's That Mitchell and Webb Look Series 2, it was raining so hard that it looked like there had been buckets of water thrown over the main characters. By the time they arrived to film in Eastbourne in the afternoon, it was glorious sunshine!
- ★ 31 Eastbourne's grade II listed Victorian theatre, The Devonshire Park, appeared as a cinema in Miss Marple.
- ★ 31 Over 200 extras were used to shoot the riot scenes on Eastbourne beach during one day of filming for Brighton Rock.
- ★ 33 The historic 1930s Bandstand was transformed from a concert venue, as it is today, into a café when Foyle's War was filmed in Eastbourne.

Eastbourne has proved a hit with film makers – popular for its unspoilt seafront ready to be transformed into any era, the acres of open South Downs countryside without a pylon or vehicle in sight, and the willingness of the town to welcome film-makers and share the beauty of the location with audiences the world over.
